

CREDITS

Project Principal Investigator

Harold L. Kleinert, Ed.D.
Interdisciplinary Human Development Institute

Project Co-Principal Investigator

Lynn Campbell, M.D.
University of Kentucky College of Medicine

Project Director

Carol Lunney, Ph.D.
Interdisciplinary Human Development Institute

Core Medical Team

James E. Ferguson, M.D., University of Kentucky College of Medicine
Malkanthie McCormick, M.D., University of Kentucky College of Medicine

Additional Core Medical Members (First Funding Cycle)

Karen Mason, M.D., University of Cincinnati College of Medicine
Shersten Killip, M.D., University of Kentucky College of Medicine

Expert Parent Team (First Funding Cycle)

Karen & Kerry Boudreaux
Becky Lesch
Nicole Maher
James McCormick, M.D.
Pamela Shaw, D.M.D.
Meg Steinman

Development Team (Web-Based Versions)

Jo Fleming, Ph.D., ORCCA Technology, Production Management and Design
John Williamson, The Whiteboard Consultant, Technical Design and Programming

Development Team First Funding Cycle – Interactive Media Group

Rene Hales, Instructional Design
Trish Smith, Layout, Interactive Design and Production Management
Dan Clinger, Programming

Research Assistant (First Funding Cycle)

Tony LoBianco, Ph.D.
Interdisciplinary Human Development Institute

Filming - Post Time Video, Lexington, KY

Douglas High, Executive Producer
James Ochsenbein, Director of Photography
Greg Smith, Senior Production Manager
David Cottingham, Video Editor/ Production Assistant
Shannon Lake, Production Coordinator

Actors:

Diagnosis In Utero

Sha Alexander, Mrs. Lois Abbott, mother-to-be
Joe Gatton, Dr. Thomas, OB/GYN
Lamont Ross, Mr. Nick Abbott, father-to-be

Actors:

Newborn Diagnosis

Peggy Stamps, Dr. Young, pediatrician
Tammy Kelty, Mrs. Brown, mother
Bryan Wallace, Mr. Brown, father

Special Thanks To:

University of Kentucky Children's Hospital - Filming
University of Kentucky Department of Public Relations

Brighter Tomorrows gratefully acknowledges the contributions of Brian Skotko, M.D., Harvard Medical School, for his very helpful review and suggestions.

Funding and support for Brighter Tomorrows was provided by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Center on Birth Defects and Developmental Disabilities, through a cooperative agreement with the Association of University Centers on Disabilities (Grant No: AUCD RTOI 2007-03-01). However, the content of this website does not necessarily reflect the position nor the policy of the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention nor the Association of University Centers on Disabilities and no official endorsements should be inferred.

Copyright ©2004, 2008, Interdisciplinary Human Development Institute, University of Kentucky. Individuals are hereby granted permission, without fees or further requests, to make photocopies of documents from www.Brighter-Tomorrows.org or www.Brightertomorrows.org for noncommercial use in classrooms or with patients as long as this copyright statement is included.